The TraceComply console allows you to keep track of your compliance status across your entire organization.

With TraceSecurity TraceComply organizations go through surveys to determine their posture.

TraceSecurity Vulnerability & Compliance Lifecycle

With TraceComply you can:

Produce reports on demand for executives, compliance officers, or IT professionals.

Keep notes regarding pertinent regulations so you can go back and refer to them in the future.

Easily access information regarding a specific regulation, the code itself, or other reference material.

Determine if your organization is in compliance with FDIC, FFIEC, GLBA, HIPAA, NCUA, OCC, and even best practices.

Show regulators and your executives how you're faring on compliance and regulatory issues.

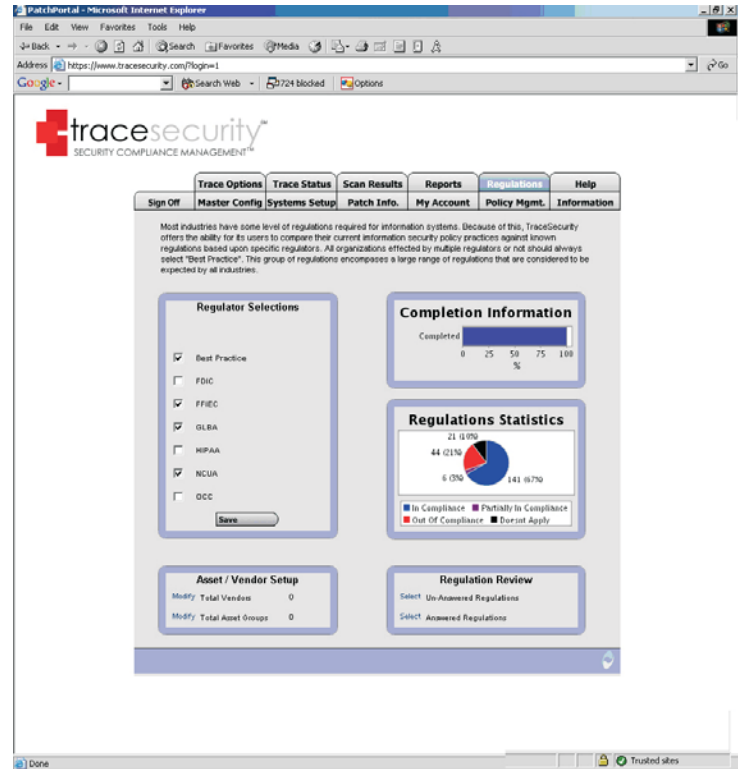

Auto-update to ensure you have the latest information on the regulations and standards.

Break out third party and vendor connections for specific regulation compliancy so you can see everything that effects your environment.

When organizations begin using TraceComply users take an online information security program interview that is focused on the soundness of four critical functions: operational, technical, physical and managerial.

Criteria in the 4 critical areas is determined by regulations, standards and best practices. The online interview process involves both managerial as well as technical personnel to determine the level of compliance with prevailing regulatory bodies.

Each question will be marked compliant, partially compliant or non-compliant. Specific recommendations are provided for each deficient portion.
